

Posting Photos & Videos

These are my rules for posting photos. I have reserved the right to post at any given time in my possession or when photos are sent to me from previous buyers. When photos are sent from previous buyers I will ask if this is ok to post but all my sales are within the understanding that I may at any given time post them with or without your permission. I just like to ask ahead before posting them anyways.

Asking for us to take more photos of the babies before they are purchased is not happening any more. I am sorry for the inconvenience but we spend a lot of time taking care of our babies and this is not a studio but a breeding facility that raises beautiful corgi babies.

HERE ARE MY RULES ON TAKING PHOTOS:

Photos seen on ADS, Facebook, and my website:

I take photos of them once a week and post them on Facebook, AKC Marketplace, or Puppy Find. My website Kocherscogis.com is updated when I can; more recent photos are always on my Facebook. I will now and then take a cute snap shot of the puppies. If you view one of my babies and ask for a more recent photo you will be referred to the last photo taken due to I do post them once a week when I can. If I do not get around to getting the most recent photo then when I am able I will post them not when I am asked by a buyer for me to take some snap shots. We spend hours taking care of your babies and our breeders so recent photos are the last thing on our mind. Also if you request for a certain photo of the puppy so you may see something unfortunately I will not take them anymore. I have been taken away too many times for photos when our babies come first; again this is not a studio.

As you have seen I will take photos of them at birth and update as they become older, once they are sold I have reserved the right not to post any more of them unless I feel the need to post a cute photo of them now and then. Photos are mostly used on our ADS, Facebook, and website to promote sales; once they are purchased the new owner will receive their photos when I can take them not when asked.

PUPPIES THAT ARE SOLD:

I will send the buyer when I can recent photos as they are growing. If I catch a cute photo I will send them. I do not have time to send weekly updated photos of your babies but again when I have the time I will take some. I try my best to send the new buyer's photos of their babies each week but you must understand that we are taking care of your babies and we do not always have the time take photos of them at your request.

PUPPIES THAT ARE ON OUR WAITING LIST TO BE PICKED:

I will send you group photos of them in each sex. When they are being picked which is at the age I will decide, it can be between 2-3 weeks all depends on the opening of the eyes and if it's a male we are interested in it can take up to they are older due to we have reserved the right to wait to see if their testicles have dropped for our breeding purposes.

After the picking I will send them when I can. I try to send them weekly but we are extremely busy and photos are the last thing we do think about. Care is more important to use than photos. I will try to send them according to our contract or more but this is with the understanding that we do not always send photos when requested by the new owners.

VIDEOS:

I will no longer be taking any type of video till after the nonrefundable $500.00 deposit has been paid, cleared, and contract has been signed and returned back to us; again this is taken a lot of our time away from our babies. You may request a video as earlier as 5 weeks old but again this will be at our decision when we are able to take one, just because you have requested this it will still be up to when we are able to film the puppy. The video will be of the puppy you have placed the deposit down on not with the litter. Please do not get me wrong I have nothing wrong with taking them but until the nonrefundable deposit has been paid there will be no videos provided and we do not nor will we take videos till they are over the ages of 5 weeks old or till they are more playful. There is no reason to take them at a young age, they are only laying around and resting. They are not active at certain ages. Again just like the photos, this will be around our schedule when we can film or take photos.

You may ask me any questions or concerns and I will be glad to answer them but again if you ask for photos or videos you will be referred to the above post. I am sorry but this is getting way out of hand and I have to put my foot down to put our babies first and only first. If I lose a sale because you cannot see a video or a recent photo then I am sorry but these are my rules and the way I run my business. The way I run my business is health for our puppies is first; not videos or photos.

Thank you,

Diann K
